

Thomas Trevarthen house – 518 Dewey Avenue – 1908

Introduction/Miscellaneous Information:

Thomas Trevarthen was born on May 27, 1838, in Crowan, Cornwall, England. He came to the United States and Jo Daviess County with his parents when he was just four years old.

He was the son of William H. Trevarthen (January 2, 1813 – July 1, 1884) and Jane Bastian Trevarthen (September 19, 1815 – January 15, 1910).

Thomas had three sisters. They were as follows:

Mary (Mrs. William) Lethlean (May 20, 1836– February 15, 1924). She and her husband lived in Council Hill, Wisconsin and Apple River.

Philippa J. Trevarthen (June 20, 1846 – October 21, 1913). She never married and always lived in the Council Hill area.

Elizabeth Trevarthen (May 1854 – April 15, 1906). She never married. She lived in the Council Hill area all her life.

Thomas had five brothers. They were as follows:

Henry Trevarthen (December 26, 1840 – 1864). Could not find any information on him other than his mention in an obituary and ancestry.com.

John Trevarthen (August 8, 1843 – April 22, 1918). He spent most of his adult years with his wife and family in Iowa after serving in the military.

Joseph Trevarthen (1850? – September 22, 1881). He never married as he died at a young age. There are many mentions of him in his early age as he was a partner in the Galena business “Bennett and Trevarthen” which was a stationery and newspaper store which also included wallpaper, frames and various holiday goods.

Francis “Frank” Trevarthen (April 3, 1856 – February 23, 1933). He lived in Council Hill and later in Galena with his wife and family.

William H. “George” Trevarthen (May 21, 1858 – March 21, 1930). He and his wife and family lived in the Council Hill area.

Thomas was married to Mary Dower on March 25, 1880, in East Galena. They settled on a farm in Council Hill, and they eventually moved with their family to Galena.

Mary Dower Trevarthen (May 18, 1855 – May 8, 1916) was the daughter of Thomas and Grace Dower and had eight siblings.

Thomas was a Civil War veteran serving in the military from 1861 to 1865. He was a member of the Ninety-Sixth Regiment of the Illinois Volunteer Infantry, Company F. He enlisted from Council Hill and obtained the rank of Corporal. He never missed a battle and despite a few injuries he was never hospitalized during his war service.

Thomas Trevarthen’s occupation was as a miner in his early years, but most of his time was as a farmer.

Thomas and Mary lived their earlier years in the Council Hill and Millbrig area. They bought the property on Dewey Avenue in Galena and built their house there in 1908.

Thomas and Mary Trevarthen had seven children – four sons and three daughters. They were as follows:

William Thomas Trevarthen (January 6, 1881 – July 11, 1898). He died young tragically in a farm accident.

Sarah Jane “Jennie” (Mrs. Ike) Harvey (February 28, 1882 – June 12, 1947). She and her husband and family lived in Montana for a while, but lived mostly in Hazel Green, Wisconsin.

Grace D. (Mrs. Ira) Hensley (April 22, 1884 – April 4, 1964). She and her husband and family lived in Wisconsin, Illinois and eventually moved to East St. Louis.

Joseph T. Trevarthen (July 27, 1886 – May 18, 1940). He and his wife and family lived most of their lives in the Council Hill area.

Mary Estelle “Mae” (Mrs. Malcolm) Taylor (January 5, 1889 – February 2, 1978). She lived for many years in Council Hill and Galena, but after she married, she and her husband and family lived in Detroit.

Harry Samuel Trevarthen (April 10, 1891 – June 22, 1978). He and his wife and family lived most of their lives in the Council Hill area.

John “Raymond” Trevarthen (December 31, 1898 – March 5, 1974). He and his wife and family lived most of their lives in the Council Hill and Galena areas.

Thomas Trevarthen died on May 5, 1929, while living with his daughter Mae in Detroit. He was almost 92 years old. He is buried in Grant Hill Cemetery in Council Hill, Jo Daviess County, Illinois. At the end of this document are pictures of his grave site as well as those of his family who are buried there as well.

On the following pages are excerpts from newspaper articles about Thomas and his family members. After that is information from ancestry and find a grave websites, and then there are pictures of the house on Dewey Street (which are more recent and not older pictures).

HEADQ'RS 21st ILL. VET. INFANTRY,
CAMP STANLEY, TEXAS,
October 8, 1865.

Special Order No. 91.

As a number of men of this Regiment are about to be mustered out the Colonel commanding takes this method to thank them for their uniform good conduct since they were transferred to this Regiment, and hopes they do not leave it with any bitter recollections, but will feel that the time spent in the 21st Illinois has been a time of pleasant associations ; and although you have been brought a long way from home he hopes you may arrive there in safety and good health ; and when you lay aside the garb of the soldier and assume the duties of the Citizen he thinks you will do all that good and true Citizens can to preserve the peace for which the country has paid such a great price, and at the same time do nothing that will destroy or efface the name you have earned as soldiers. Wishing you every prosperity through life he bids you farewell.

STOCK DEPARTMENT.

At noon to-day there were one hundred and sixty-eight entries in the stock department, and it is expected that before the hour of closing the books to-morrow forenoon, every stall and pen on the grounds will be occupied. The display of thoroughbreds is very fine, and among the more notable exhibits of this department, are herds from the farms of R. S. Norris, S. S. Brown, Wm. Trevarthen, of West Galena, and John Matthews of the Ames Branch stock farm, Darlington. The justly celebrated stallions Post Boy and French Jo, owned by the Hickman Bros., are on exhibition, also an imported Norman, owned by Messrs. Shipton & McGrath, of Elizabeth, and several others worthy of special mention.

TREVARTHEN-DOWER.

Married, at the residence of Mr. Thomas Dower, in East Galena, Thursday, March 25, 1880, Mr. Thomas Trevarthen, of Guilford, and Miss Mary Dower, the Rev. Cochran officiating. The bridesmaids were Miss Lavinia Ivey and Miss Amanda Neuschwanger; the groomsmen, Mr. Frank Trevarthen, brother of the groom, and Mr. Wm. Dower, brother of the bride. The bride wore "dregs of wine" cashmere, trimmed with silk; wreath of orange blossoms, bridal veil, white bow and gloves. The bridesmaids wore dresses like that of the bride, peach colored bows and white gloves. The groom and attendants wore the customary black with white vests and gloves. The ceremony, a very impressive one, was performed at half-past four o'clock, in the presence of forty or more assembled guests. After hearty congratulations had been extended, the company repaired to the dining room, where a bountiful supper was served, under the able supervision of the bride's mother. The rooms were tastefully decorated with evergreens and flowers, and presented an inviting appearance. The evening was sociably spent alike by young and old, enlivened by vocal and instrumental music. Toward the close of the evening, Mr. Henry Friedick made a neat and appropriate speech. In behalf of the groom and bride, he thanked the guests for their attendance and many beautiful presents, and in the name of the guests gave thanks for the generous hospitality with which they had been treated. The following is a list of the presents:

SHOT DEAD.

John Quilliam Murdered on Main Street Saturday Night.

PARTICULARS OF THE TRAGEDY.

The Murderer a Young Stranger—Festive of the Victim.

Four murders in one year, to the month, is the unspeakable record which Jo Daviess County presents to the world. It has been a matter of congratulation among court officials and other good citizens that the May term of court was to be an exception to its three predecessors, inasmuch that no murder trial would stain the records. But at the eleventh hour another murderous shot has been fired, another victim has fallen and another individual is held in answer for steeping his hands in the life-blood of another. But the stage on which the tragedy was enacted is a new one. Instead of in the remote country districts, as has been the case with every murder committed in the county for more than thirty years, it occurred on the public thoroughfare of Galena, almost in the heart of the city and before the Saturday evening bustle had subsided.

The victim was John Quilliam, a young man 25 years of age, the second son of William Quilliam, living near Fourth street, on the East Side, and a brother-in-law of E. C. Smadley, president of the National Iron Works of Dubuque. The murderer is a beardless stranger of nineteen, giving the name of Vinton Ross, and who has been in the neighborhood for several weeks, sailing under the alias of John Dixon. The unfortunate victim was employed at the National Iron Works in Dubuque and about 8 o'clock Saturday evening came over on a freight train to spend Sunday with his parents. He stopped at the water works for a few minutes to see his younger brother. Happening to fall in with some companions, they crossed to Main street and visited several saloons. Finally at an up-town saloon they met young Ross, who was in company with a young fellow named Harry Whippe, living in Galena. After some words in the saloon, Quilliam and his companion went out and a few minutes later Ross followed. Young Whippe made some remark to Quilliam which was answered by a blow on the eye. In the meantime were arguing in the doorway, when Quilliam stepped up and struck Ross on the neck with his fist. Without a word Ross whipped out his revolver and shot. The ball entered Quilliam's breast and the unfortunate young fellow staggered backward, clasping his hand to his wound. As he fell he was caught by his companion, who held him while the blood gushed from his mouth and nose and from the wound in his breast. He never spoke but once after being shot.

"My God! He's shot. Run for a doctor," exclaimed his companion, and the dying man murmured inarticulately "It's no use, I'm done for." He could say no more, for the life-blood gushed in great quantities from his mouth and nose, stifling his words. The spot where the shooting occurred was on the corner of Main and Perry streets and a big pool of blood marked the spot where he fell. From there he was borne in the arms of his companions to the City Hotel office, where he was laid on a cot and where life left him, within five minutes after the fatal shot was fired. Dr. H. T. Godfrey arrived just as he was making his last gasp. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Armbruster & Ross, near by, where it was prepared for burial and where it remained until the inquest was held. The bullet entered the upper part of the breast, exactly in the centre, and piercing the sternum, took a diagonal course through the aorta and right lung. It lodged about three inches below the right shoulder-blade in the back, just beneath the skin, and was cut out by the undertaker next morning. The bullet was from a 38 calibre revolver and the wound was large enough to admit a man's finger. So close was the range that the powder burned the victim's clothes.

WILD EXCITEMENT

followed the shooting, and within a few minutes a crowd of several hundred men and boys were on the spot. The murderer stood immovable with the smoking weapon in his hand, until seized by ex-Alderman Owens, who delivered him up almost immediately to Officer Bohlen. "You don't need to handcuff me," he said when arrested, "I'll go, I did it in self-defense. He had no business to hit me." He was taken quietly and quickly by the officer to the city prison and locked up, before many realized what had happened. The crowd in the streets grew, and before ten minutes had elapsed hundreds of men were surging in front of the hotel where lay the dead body, while many more gathered around the prison.

When the news reached the street that Quillam was dead angry exclamations were heard on every hand and many a dark suggestion of lynching was heard. Had there been one bold spirit in the crowd to take the lead, the murderer would never have reached the jail.

State's Attorney Hodson realized the importance of getting the prisoner to a more secure place and demanded his delivery to Sheriff McDonald. When it was learned that he was to be moved the crowd made for the Toombs, all anxious to see the prisoner and many ready to take him from the law. While they poured down Hill street and onto the Market Square Sheriff McDonald and other officials quietly took the prisoner out and up Perry street, to Bench, and thus to the jail, where he was soon safely lodged.

Word of the tragedy was sent to Quillam's family and his distracted brother and father were soon on the scene, and they were objects of general pity as they gave free vent to their feelings in the Brown, both railroad men and friends of Quillam, R. E. Calderwood, Dr. H. T. Godfrey and Sheriff McDonald were examined without adducing any evidence as to the circumstances that led to the killing. Harry Whippo was the most important witness and his story of the circumstances occurring before the shot were as above related. excess of their grief. "My God! It will kill his poor mother," was the only tangible exclamation of the father as he bent over the lifeless body of his boy.

Coroner Perry was telephoned and arrived Sunday morning, when a jury was summoned and the inquest was held in the undertaker's office. The members of the jury were H. H. Svett, M. G. Hughes, A. Riegers, Wm. Kloth, H. Gronner and O. B. Upson. After hearing the testimony they rendered a verdict declaring that deceased had come to his death by a bullet wound inflicted by one Vinton Ross, and recommending that was seen in the jail Sunday morning, and in response to many questions told the subjoined story of himself and of the killing. He is a fine featured and well built young man, apparently two or three years older than he claims to be, and the marks of dissipation are already visible on his face. He was excited and nervous, but told a straightforward story. He said: "My name is Vinton Ross, I am 19 years old and I came here about two months ago from Pemberton, Shelby county, Ohio. I was born and raised there, attending school until my father died, when I was fifteen. My mother died before him and I have no relatives but a step-mother and two half-sisters, who live there. I have worked at painting and paper hanging. Came here directly from home and went to Millbrig on a freight train the day I reached Galena. There I met Thomas Trevarthen with whom I engaged to work. I worked with him until Saturday, when he paid me what was due, about $16, and I came to Galena with him, intending to leave for Omaha that night. I had been in Galena several times before and once had soaked my revolver for $1.25. Tom Bastian took out the revolver and kept it until Saturday, when I got it from him as I was going away. I left my clothes at Trevarthen's, intending to send for them later. In the evening I met Mr. Whippo and we went up town together.

Went into a saloon and had a few drinks and I walked to the lunch counter. After eating I was picking my teeth with my knife when a fellow who was with the man I shot came up and said "You'd better put up that knife. We don't want any of that around here." I had never seen any of them before, but laughed and put away the knife. A little later I was again picking my teeth, when the same fellow approached and said, "G—d d—n you, will you douse that knife." He took a cheese-knife from the counter and poked it at me, to scare me I suppose. I put away the knife again and said, "If you fellows want a treat come on," as I thought that's what they were after.

Whippo said, "you're a d—n fool if you treat. They've set you for a dead mark," and I didn't treat. Shortly afterward they went out and in a few minutes we went out too. They were standing outside and Whippo said to the man I shot, "Don't say anything to him. He's loaded," and the other fellow hit him.

Then the one who had talked to me before came up and dared me to fight, I told him I didn't know him and had nothing against him and wouldn't fight. While we were arguing the man I shot came up and hit me under the ear. I pulled my revolver and shot him. I didn't think I had killed him. I shot in self-defense. The officers told me I had $10.80 when arrested. That was all I had except the revolver.

"Did you give your right name when you hired with Mr. Trevarthen," he was asked.

"No, they called me Johnnie Diston."

"What led you to adopt an alias?"

"I don't know. It was a mere fancy."

"Had you ever been in trouble before?"

"I never was locked up before in my life, and never before harmed any one."

"Why did you carry a revolver?"

"I carried it as any one naturally would going on a journey—for self protection."

"Have you given any other false name since coming here?"

"I gave the name of John Diston and gave my right name to the officer last night. I never used another."

When Ross had concluded his story to the reporter Sheriff McDonald, who stood by, remarked, "That corroborates Whippo's story as to the killing, in every particular."

Although sentiment was altogether against the murderer Saturday night and Sunday morning, it is now admitted that he had some provocation, but it is argued that in a public street with many abroad, and when neither of those who he alleges assailed him had weapons of any kind, that he should not have been so quick in drawing a gun. The worst point against Ross is that he gave a false name on coming here, and it is predicted that it will be found that he has been in hiding for other crimes. It is also argued against him that a man of his trade, he being a paper-hanger, and an expert one according to Mr. Trevarthen—would not go into the country to work for low wages as a farm laborer at a season when men of his trade were most in demand. The belief is held by many that this is not the first crime of which Ross is guilty.

He has no friends nor means and if he pleads not guilty on the ground of self-defense, as he stoutly affirmed that he would, his defense must be conducted by an attorney appointed by the court.

Galena Daily Gazette – June 12, 1890 – murder trial/witness

THE MURDER TRIAL.

Vinton Ross Testifies in His Own Behalf.

The Trial Drawing Rapidly to a Close.

The circuit court room has held to-day such a crowd of onlookers as only a murder trial can draw. The Ross case is nearing the jury rapidly and the testimony will probably all be in before court adjourns to-night. The prosecution's witnesses had all been examined and the defense begun at 11 o'clock to-day. There were several ladies in the court room, and John Quillam's father, mother and sisters were attentive listeners to the testimony this afternoon.

While quite a number of witnesses have been examined the bulk of the testimony had no direct bearing on the circumstances of the murder, and the verdict must hinge on the testimony of four witnesses—Harry Whippo, Jas. Brown, Will Crowley and Ross himself.

Thomas Trevarthen, for whom Ross worked under the alias of John Distin, gave testimony favorable to the defendant, insomuch as he said he had seen nothing in his behavior but what was good. Ross hired with him in February and worked faithfully until his time was out on the 24th of May. He paid him off that day and saw him last on the evening before the shooting.

Joe Bastian, of Council Hill, testified to having taken Ross' revolver out of pawn and giving it to him between 7 and 8 on the night of the murder.

Vinton Ross was acquitted of murder by a jury assembled in the office of the Galena Hotel last night. The murder trial was the topic of conversation and argument waxed so warm that it was decided to form a jury and try the case. Landlord Sugbroue presided and no less a personage than the foreman of the late grand jury acted as clerk. After each one present told his version of the crime and the attorneys made their pleas, the judge delivered his charge, the jury retired and on the second ballot acquitted the prisoner.

Cut With a Corn Knife.

Two children of Thomas Trevarthen, of Council Hill, aged 7 and 4 years, were at play Monday afternoon when the elder accidentally struck the other with a corn knife which he held in his hand. The sharp blade penetrated the knee-joint, making a wound which will never heal, the knee-pan being permanently injured. Dr. Kittoe was quickly summoned and made the child as comfortable as possible, but the unfortunate little fellow will be a cripple for life.

Galena Daily Gazette – August 14, 1890 – accident/injury to Thomas and his mother

Injured in a Runaway.

The aged mother of Thomas Trevarthen, of Council Hill, was badly injured in a runaway accident Wednesday evening. She and her son were in an open vehicle driving from their home to Council Hill Station, when just as they were on the steepest part of the decline, the breeching-strap broke, frightening the horse, which was a young animal and he dashed down the hill at a break-neck rate, demolishing the vehicle after throwing out both its occupants. Mr. Trevarthen was not severely injured but his mother was badly bruised and was stunned by the fall. She was attended last night by Drs. Godfrey and Kittoe, of Galena.

Galena Daily Gazette – August 15, 1890 – injury updates

The injuries suffered by Mrs. Trevarthen in the runaway accident Wednesday evening will result in her permanent disablement, if indeed they do not hasten her death. Her injuries consisted of a deep cut on the knee, affecting the knee-pan, and the dislocation of three ribs, which were broken from both the spine and sternum. The lady is 73 years of age and the shock of the accident alone was sufficient to prostrate her. Her son Thomas escaped better, his injuries consisting of the dislocation of the thumb and a finger of one hand and a cut under the chin. Only a week ago one of his children suffered an injury to the knee which threatened to cripple him for life, but he is improving nicely. Dr. Kittoe attended Mrs. Trevarthen again to-day.

Galena Daily Gazette – August 20, 1890 – accident article

FROM COUNCIL HILL.

Correspondence of the Galena Gazette:

Council Hill, Aug. 19.—A serious runaway accident occurred at Council Hill Station on the evening of the 13th, in which Grandma Trevarthen and her son Thomas miraculously escaped instant death. Thomas was taking his mother home, after making his family a pleasant visit, and while descending the station hill the harness became detached from the shafts, allowing the buggy to run against the horse, causing him to become uncontrollable, and he dashed down the hill at break-neck speed. They were thrown from the buggy with violent force on to the railroad crossing at the depot, and were found insensible by parties who immediately came to their assistance. The old lady received internal injuries from which it was feared she would not recover, but at the present writing hopes are being entertained by Dr. Kittoe, her attending physician, and others, that she will ultimately recover. The unfortunates were taken to the hospitable home of J. B. Parkins, Esq., where Mrs. Trevarthen will be necessitated to remain for several weeks. Mr. Trevarthen was not so seriously injured, he having received a dislocated thumb and one leg badly cut, together with being badly shaken by the fall, but is at present able to be out.

Galena Daily Gazette – August 22, 1890 – mother's injury update

Mrs. Trevarthen, who was injured at Council Hill last week, has so much improved that she was removed to her home to-day from J. B. Parkins' house, where she had been since the accident.

A SERIOUS RUNAWAY.

Thomas Trevarthen Has Another Accident.

Thomas Trevarthen, of Council Hill, is having more than his share of misfortunes just at present. Two weeks ago he and his aged mother were badly injured in a runaway accident near that station, and only a week before his little boy was cut with a corn-knife so badly that it was feared he would be crippled for life. Last night Mr. Trevarthen experienced another runaway. He was driving home from Galena about 6 o'clock when the breaking of a bolt, just as he was at Hughlett's bridge, north of the city, allowed the single-trees to drop on the horse's heels. They plunged forward and ran only about forty rods when Mr. Trevarthen was thrown out. He was stunned by the fall and was to all appearances dead when found, but revived after a little. Louis Schaber and G. W. Redfearn happened to be on the road at the time and hastened to his assistance. He was taken home in Mr. Redfearn's wagon and medical assistance summoned. Several ribs were found broken and he had suffered other injuries of a lighter nature. The horses did not run far, being brought to a halt by the overturning of the wagon.

A HAPPY BRIDAL.

Wedding of Miss Mary Bell and Mr. Frank Trevarthen.

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, at Millbrig, was the scene of an auspicious wedding Thursday evening, when their daughter, Mary Isabel, became the wife of Mr. Frank Trevarthen.

The ceremony was solemnized in the presence of a large and brilliant assemblage of invited guests. It began promptly on the stroke of seven, when the wedding party entered the tastefully decorated parlors to the inspiring music of Mendelssohn's wedding march, which was artistically rendered by Mrs. W. M. Jackson. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. S. C. Yundt, rector of Grace church, the beautiful and impressive ring service of the Episcopal church being used. The bride was given away by her father. The bride was attired in an elegant costume of cream silk. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ida Bell, and Miss Trevarthen. Messrs. George Bastian and Will Bell supported the bridegroom.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the congratulations of the company were bestowed upon the happy young couple and a pleasant and social time and a bounteous feast followed. The bride was the recipient of a large number of elegant presents. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Fiddick, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Inghlett, Mrs. John Fiddick, Mrs. W. M. Jackson and Miss Etta Fiddick, of Galena, and Mrs. Wilde and daughter, of Sioux Rapids, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Trevarthen were driven to the city and took the midnight train on the Central for St. Louis. They will make a tour of the South, after which they will go to housekeeping on the farm of the groom in Guilford township.

WM. TREVARTHEN KILLED.

Is Struck by a Falling Haypole
This Forenoon and Expires
Almost Instantly.

The Sad Accident Occurs in the Presence of His Family Who are Nearly Prostrated With Grief.

A terribly sad accident occurred on the farm of Thomas Trevarthen about six miles northeast of this city this forenoon by which his son, William, was instantly killed.

The young man was assisting in stacking hay in the field and had charge of the hay fork which transfers the hay from the ground to the stack. The machinery of the fork was supported by two long poles fastened together at the top and held in position by guy ropes. While pulling up a load of hay one of the guy ropes suddenly snapped, allowing the poles to fall forward. From some reason the young man failed to notice that the poles were falling in time to make his escape and was struck on the side of the head with fearful force, knocking him to the earth with great violence. Those standing near rushed to his assistance and his father raised him to a sitting posture, but he was limp and unconscious and showed no signs of life. All efforts made to resuscitate him proved unavailing and it soon dawned on the horror-struck parents that their boy was dead.

He had received the force of the blow on the side of the head, lacerating the scalp and splitting his chin. It also appeared that his neck was broken and that death had been almost instantaneous. He was nearly eighteen years of age and a young man most highly esteemed among a wide circle of acquaintances. The deeply afflicted family are not alone in their sorrow. The whole community is greatly shocked by his sudden and untimely death. He carried a policy of insurance for $1,000, in the New York Life which he had taken out about a year ago.

The funeral will be held to-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock from his late home in Council Hill.

Galena Daily Gazette – July 13, 1898 – son William's funeral

The funeral of William Trevarthen, who met death last Monday forenoon under a falling haypole, was held at the family residence near Millbrig on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. O. J. Simmons, pastor of the M. E. church at Council Hill, officiating. Interment was made in the Grant Hill cemetery. A very large attendance at the solemn services bore silent witness to the high regard in which the young man was held in the community. A number attended from Galena.

Galena Daily Gazette – July 26, 1898 – son William's death/letter

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM T. TREVARTHEN.

William Thomas Trevarthen, the eldest son of Thomas and Mary Trevarthen, was born at Millbrig, Ill., January 6, 1881. The time and manner of his sad and sudden death will be long remembered by his relatives and friends. On the morning of July 11, 1898, he, with his father, younger brothers, and John Hull who is in the employ of Mr. Trevarthen, went to the hayfield. All went well until about 10:30 a. m., when the haypoles, which they were using, fell, striking Willie, resulting in instantaneous death. It was an awful moment! The horror-struck father was at his side instantly, but too late to get the shortest message from the beloved son. Mr. Trevarthen held Willie in his arms while a message was dispatched to bring a vehicle and to inform the mother of the dreadful accident. It was but a short time before there were neighbors and friends gathered at the home to do what could be done for the sorrow-stricken family. Willie's death was, indeed, a shock to the entire community. He was an energetic young man, ambitious to make the best of everything about the beautiful home and farm, and a favorite in a large circle of friends. The day previous to his death he attended all the services of Asbury church and it was remarked by his friends that he looked particularly well and seemed joyous and happy. Little did we think when we left the evening service that in a few short hours we would see him resting in the eternal sleep. Willie was a tall, manly youth for his years, of pleasing appearance and courteous manner, tenderly loving his home, his parents, sisters and brothers. Of a quiet and modest disposition, yet ever ready to greet his friends with a sincere and cordial welcome and a cheery hospitality.

The funeral services were held at the family residence July 13th at 8 o'clock, Rev. O. J. Simmons conducting them. A very appropriate and comforting address was given founded upon the beautiful passage of scripture, "Cast thy burden on the Lord and He shall sustain thee." Three hymns were sung by friends of the deceased. After the services the remains were taken to Grant Hill cemetery and tenderly laid to rest. The cortege was one of the longest ever seen in this vicinity. The beautiful white casket was covered with floral offerings, which was especially appropriate as Willie was a great lover of flowers and often wore a beautiful blossom on the lapel of his coat. At the cemetery the members of the Sunday school marched in a body, carrying the flowers which could not be placed on the casket, leaving them at his grave. Words at a time like this are utterly inadequate to express one's sympathy, but on this occasion the friends expressed their feelings in action and did all that could be done for the comfort and convenience of the family, for which Mr. and Mrs. Trevarthen desire to return their heartfelt thanks. FRIEND,

They would however recommend that the jail be made more secure by protecting the windows in the same with bars or otherwise in order to prevent prisoners from being able to escape therefrom as readily in case they should work their way out of the cells or corridors.

MAY PROVE A NEW RECORD.

Claims of Bastian Family to Greatest Longevity Not Likely to be Disputed.

Combined Ages of Four Brothers and Two Sisters Living Within a Radius of Two Miles Total 508 Years.

Galena, which has been famous for so many things, may safely lay claim to possessing a family whose combined ages for the number comprising the same exceed that of any other family of like size. The Chicago papers contain this morning the portraits of the four male members of the Bastian family referred to, whose ages exhibit the striking total of 343 years, the individuals being: John, 93; Stephen, 80; Thomas, 81 and Henry 17 years. Two sisters, Mrs. Jane Trevarthen, aged 85, and Mrs. Philippa Kiddick, aged 80, complete the family and bring the grand total to 508 years, making the average age for the group nearly eighty-five years. All enumerated enjoy fair health and look forward to many more years of life. They descend from a line of hardy ancestors and like many of the pioneers of this section were born in Cornwall, England. It is doubtful if a duplicate of this record for longevity can be presented by any other city in the country. Stephen is the father of John Bastian, landlord of the Logan House, with whom he resides.

Of the four brothers referred to above Stephen and Thomas came to this county in the spring of 1840. They sailed from Plymouth, England, on the "Royal-Adelaide" and after many weeks landed at the port of New York. From there they made the journey across country by canal and road to the Ohio river, then down that stream to the Mississippi and up the Father of Waters to Galena, where they arrived in the month of May. They immediately purchased a quarter section of land in East Galena on which they lived for many years. Later their parents and the rest of the family came over to America and also settled in East Galena, and on the family homestead the parents died, the father, John Bastian, in 1867, at the age of 84, the mother eight years prior at the age of 71. They were buried in East Galena near Miner's Chapel. John Bastian, the father, thus referred to, was the son of one John Bastian, who was born, lived and died in the Parish of Crowan, Cornwall. He was a farmer and died rich in years.

The Bastian family are thus to be numbered among the pioneer settlers of this county having lived here for more than three score years. They have been substantial people, good citizens and neighbors and have done their full share in the upbuilding of the land region. Their lives have covered the progress of the century. They came to this country when there were few railways and fewer conveniences. They have lived to witness the marvels which make life more livable but their long lives indicate that modern utilities and improvements are not essential to longevity. Robust constitutions and normal living have no doubt contributed to lengthen their spans of life beyond that vouchsafed to the majority of mankind.

GO TO CALIFORNIA.

Several Galena People Take Their Departure ToDay.

A party of Galena people and others from this vicinity took their departure on the Illinois Central 12:28 train this afternoon for Los Angeles and San Francisco, Cal. Among these were Mrs. Williams of Hazel Green, William Plath, who has been visiting here and whose home is in California, William Dower and daughter of East Galena, Thomas Trevarthen and wife of Council Hill, William Tamblyn of Lupton, George Calle, Sr., and Capt. William Vincent of this city. A large party from Warren and neighborhood passed through here on the Central morning train bound for the same destination. The round trip to Los Angeles and back costs only $50 and the ticket is good to return until October 15. Tickets at this rate can be purchased until August 14. The object of these low rates is to accommodate old soldiers who may desire to visit the National G. A. R. encampment to be held at San Francisco from August 17 to 22, inclusive.

Galena Daily Gazette – September 28, 1903 – return from California

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trevarthen of Council Hill and Will Dower of East Galena arrived home on Saturday evening from a two months' sojourn on the Pacific coast during which they attended the National G. A. R., meeting at San Francisco. All three returned in good health and greatly pleased with their trip, but, nevertheless, Mr. Trevarthen thinks there is no place quite like home near old Galena.

OBITUARY.

John Bastian.

The funeral rites to the memory of the late pioneer settler of this county, John Bastian, were observed from the family residence in Guilford township to the Union Methodist church near by at one o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Bastian has long been a member of that church and will be greatly missed as a member of the congregation. The attendance of friends and neighbors at the services was large, a number being present from Galena, thus attesting in a silent manner the high regard and respect in which the venerable pioneer was held during his long and useful life. The services were conducted by Rev. D. F. Hardy of Council Hill who delivered a deeply impressive and instructive funeral sermon during which he paid fitting tribute to the many noble qualities of mind and heart of the subject before him. Numerous beautiful floral tokens of love from kindly hands were in evidence. At the conclusion of the services at the house and church the remains were conveyed to Miner's Chapel cemetery where they were gently laid in their final repose.

John Bastian died at the family home in Guilford township on Sunday evening, Jan. 9th, 1904. He was born in Crowan, Cornwall Co., England, Sept. 11, 1808, and died on Jan. 9th, 1904, aged 94 years, 3 months and 25 days. He married Ann Holman, who survives him, in England and came to this county in 1841. Part of his earlier life was spent in mining, at the same time clearing and cultivating the land on which he built the comfortable home in which he died.

He reared a large family of children, ten of whom grew to manhood and womanhood. Five of these have preceded their father to the grave. John who died in 1901; Mary Hocking in 1895; Thomas, who was killed in a boiler explosion in Nevada some years ago; Hester Swaney and Elizabeth Sincor were both married on the same day and both died at the age of 25 years, leaving young families.

Those who survive are: Sampson of Council Hill, Frank, of Tombstone, Arizona, and William, Annie and Orlando who reside at home. He is also survived by two brothers, Thomas of East Galena, and Henry of Guilford, and by two sisters, Mrs. Jane Trevarthen of Guilford, and Mrs. William Fiddick of Galena. When Mr. Bastian came to America they were eight weeks on the voyage. They came by way of the Hudson river and Erie canal to Buffalo and then by team from Chicago to Galena. Like all other pioneers he suffered many hardships and inconveniences that can hardly be comprehended in this luxurious age. He has always been a strong and vigorous man and until very recently has suffered very few of the ailments peculiar to old age. His face was round, plump and rosy with scarcely a wrinkle and with his snowy hair was indeed a beautiful old man. He was tenderly cared for in his last illness by his sons and daughter, Annie, and granddaughter, Charlotte Hocking, who have been untiring in their care of him and his aged wife who has been an invalid from paralysis since last spring.

FUNERAL IS HELD

Remains of Miss Elizabeth Trevarthen Are Laid in the Tomb.

The funeral of Miss Elizabeth Trevarthen was held from her late home on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and was largely attended, many being present from Scales Mound, Council Hill and Galena. Services were conducted by Rev. Storer of the Council Hill M. E. church, who spoke appropriately of the lovely character and useful life of the departed. Several beautiful selections were rendered by a quartet composed of Wallace Ford, Sherman Lupton, Mrs. Amos Ford and Mrs. Lupton.

The beautiful white casket that was almost hidden from view by the profusion of flowers was carried by four nephews and two cousins of the deceased, Joseph Trevarthen, Henry, Joe and George Lethlean, Orlando and Wilbur Bastian.

Among those who attended from this city were John Fiddick, Mr. and Mrs. John Bastian and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Horning, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Pascoe, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kucheman, Mrs. Jos. Dower and Joe Tippet.

Galena Daily Gazette – April 26, 1906- sister's death/tribute

The Late Miss Elizabeth Trevarthen.

Permit me, Mr. Editor, to occupy a small space in your valuable paper to speak of the merits of the late Miss Elizabeth Trevarthen who departed this life on Easter day and was laid to rest in the Union cemetery, near the church of that name on Tuesday, the 17th of April, 1906. She was the youngest daughter of William and Jane Trevarthen, who came to Jo Daviess county in the early days and settled in the neighborhood known as East Fork, which place has been the parental home of the members of the family ever since. Her father dying some 20 years ago and the majority of her brothers and sisters marrying and leaving home, the decedent, with her aged mother, and a sister lived in company with their brother, Frank, and his family until her death. She was gifted with an amiable disposition and a loving, kind heart, and was respected by all who knew her. During her young life it was the privilege of the writer to be intimately acquainted with her, and it gives him great pleasure to testify of the regard and sincere friendship that not only existed between the families, who were near neighbors, but also for the personal esteem and kindly remembrance he has for her womanly and Christian virtues that was so manifest to all. But why should we regret the loss of our friends. They are only gone before, where they will meet and receive a glad and joyous welcome from the dear ones waiting on the other side, and will help to swell the chorus and add to the number who will be ready to receive and welcome us. Then let us live in hope as this short life with all of its disappointments and sorrows pass so swiftly away that we too ere long will share the pleasures and joys of their company forever in that eternal home of joy and rest.

A FRIEND.

Galena Daily Gazette – May 15, 1906 – sister Elizabeth's obituary

OBITUARY.

Elizabeth Trevarthen.

Elizabeth Trevarthen was born in Guilford township in May, 1854, and died April 15, 1906, aged 52 years. She was of a bappy, cheerful disposition, gentle and considerate of all. She was especially fond of children and was never more happy than when doing something for their amusement or comfort. She had the rare faculty of knowing what to do at the right time. She was always ready to help in time of sickness or sorrow and many a home in the neighborhood has been brightened and many a care lessened by her tender and gentle assistance in times of sickness and death. Her's was a social nature. She enjoyed herself among old and young. She dearly loved to help and if there was a wedding, picnic, or party, or a children's party she always entered into the preparations with keen enjoyment. She united with the M. E. church early in life, was always a consistent member and gave every worthy cause her personal and financial support. She was a devoted daughter. Several times she has nursed her aged mother through a critical illness, and once when an accident in a runaway almost proved fatal. Lizzie was the youngest daughter of William and Jane Trevarthen. Her father and brother, Joseph, preceded her to the grave about twenty years ago. Besides her aged mother she is survived by four brothers and two sisters: Thomas of Council Hill, John of Eldora, Iowa; W. H. of Scales Mound, and Frank who lives on the homestead. Mrs. William Lethlean of Monticello, Wis., and Philippa at home. Her funeral was held from her late home on Tuesday, April 17, services conducted by Rev. Mr. Storer of the M. E. church. It was largely attended, many being present from Council Hill, Scales Mound and Galena. Several beautiful selections were rendered by a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Lupton, Wallace Ford and Mrs. Amos Ford. The beautiful white casket that seemed so appropriate for one who had lived such a pure and lovely life, was almost hidden from view by the profusion of beautiful flowers, and was carried by four nephews and two cousins: Joseph Trevarthen, Henry, Joseph and Geo. Lethlean, Orlando and Wilbur Haslan. They laid her to rest in beautiful Miners cemetery. C. P.

Galena Daily Gazette – June 22, 1906 – soldier's reunion (partial)

The Old Soldiers and Sailors of Jo Daviess County held their annual meeting on Thursday June 21st 1906 at Stockton. The people of that thriving village had made ample preparation to receive the old veterans in a manner worthy of the occasion and in the spirit of patriotism and friendly greeting for which that town is noted, and rendered a program for the entertainment of the soldiers and their friends, and the public in general, that was truly enjoyed by all who attended the meeting. The town was tastefully decorated in becoming designs of mottoes, flags and bunting, and the residents vied with each other to make it an enjoyable and entertaining meeting for all.

Galena Daily Gazette – September 27, 1907 – sister's accident

Council Hill Lady Meets Accident at Fair Grounds Thursday.

Miss Philippa Trevarthen of Council Hill was quite seriously injured in an accident at the fair grounds on Thursday afternoon, when she was knocked down and run over by two of the running horses. Miss Trevarthen, in company with some other ladies, was crossing the race track near the cattle sheds, when the accident occurred. The gate being open, and there being no watchman on duty, the ladies did not take the precaution to see if there was any danger. As Miss Trevarthen stepped onto the track, she was struck by one of the horses which was in the running race, and knocked down. The second horse also ran over her, but the jockey on the third horse, ran his horse into the fence in order to save the lady from further injury.

Miss Trevarthen received a number of bad bruises, one of her ankles also being broken. She was brought to the city in a carriage where medical attendance was procured, and later in the day she returned to her home. A message from her home this morning stated that she was resting as easily as could be expected, and that no serious results were anticipated. That Miss Trevarthen was not more seriously injured or else killed outright, is a matter of congratulation, when the manner in which the accident occurred is considered.

The jockey who turned his horse out to avoid running over Miss Trevarthen was Chris Anderson of Boscobel. Anderson was slightly injured by running into the fence, one leg being bruised. The horse was owned by Frank Lampert of Boscobel, and with another driver, won the race.

Galena Daily Gazette – February 22, 1908 – almost accident

Narrowly Escaped Injury.

Mr. Thomas Trevarthen of Council Hill who was in the city today had an exceedingly narrowly escape from serious injury this noon. Mr. Trevarthen was standing at the corner of Guggenheim's clothing store when a mass of ice and snow weighing several pounds fell from the room striking the walk but a few inches away. Mr. Trevarthen was considerably startled by the incident, but doubtless was thankful that the ice struck the walk instead of himself.

WEDDED AT LIVINGSTON, MONT.

Marriage of Miss Jennie Trevarthen
and I. J. Harvey Solemnized,

Livingston, Montana, Oct. 3, 1908.—
One of the swellest functions of the season occurred at the home of Harvey and Tregloan on South Yellowstone avenue, Livingston, Montana, on September 29, when Isaac John Harvey, formerly of Cuba City, Wis., and Miss Jennie Trevarthen of Council Hill, Ill., were united in marriage by the Rev. J. A. Badcon of the First M. E. church of this city. The bride, attended by Miss Jane Austin, and the groom, by Charles Lester Harvey, met under the beautiful wedding canopy in the reception room, just as the clock chimed the hour of six. After the impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church was read, a wedding supper was served by Mesdames Harvey and Tregloan. The table was beautifully decorated in pink and white sweetpeas and cut flowers, while the color scheme of pink and white was artistically carried out in the lighted candles which adorned the table. The happy couple are spending their honeymoon in Helena, the state capital, after which they will be at home at the Harvey and Tregloan ranch at Clyde Park. The bride is a native of Wisconsin where her childhood and girlhood have been spent, while the groom, also a native of Wisconsin is a rising young stockman of the Shield River Valley where he has many friends and well wishers for his success.

Galena Daily Gazette – January 17, 1910 – mother's death/obituary

DEATH CALLS PIONEER LADY

Mrs. Jane Trevarthen Dies at Home in Council Hill at Age of 95 Years.

Decedent was Resident of County for Over Sixty Years and was a Native of England.

One of Jo Daviess county's pioneer residents passed into the life beyond on Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Jane Trevarthen died at her home in Council Hill township. A continuous resident of this county for over sixty years, the deceased was widely known in this section, and like a sheaf of ripened wheat, her life was garnered by that never wearying reaper, death.

Jane Bastian was a native of Cornwall, England, at which place she was born on Sept. 19, 1815. In young womanhood she was united in marriage to William Trevarthen and with their three small children, the couple braved the dangers of a journey to a foreign land, and emigrated to the United States. They came directly to Galena, and ultimately settled on a farm six miles east of the city, where both resided up to the time of their deaths. Mr. Trevarthen died some twenty-six years ago, since which time, the mother had been tenderly and lovingly cared for by her children.

Mrs. Trevarthen was the mother of nine children of whom, Joseph, Henry and Elizabeth, preceded her to the grave. The surviving children are two daughters and four sons, Mrs. Mary Lethlain, Miss Phillipa, John, Frank, William and Thomas. She also leaves nineteen grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the old home this afternoon, Rev. A. D. Klontz of Council Hill officiating. Those who attended from the city were John Bastian, S. J. Hughlett, and Thomas Trevarthen.

Galena Daily Gazette – January 25, 1910 – mother's will/probate

The will of Mrs. Jane Trevarthen of Council Hill has been filed for probate. Mrs. Trevarthen divided her estate among her children, after making a special bequest of six thousand dollars for her daughter, Miss Phillipa Trevarthen.

LOST IN THE SNOW DRIFTS

Galena Sleighriding Party Has Thrilling Experience.

A party of Galena young ladies have gained a very extensive acquaintance with the topography and geography of the western end of Jo Daviess county since Friday afternoon. Bundled into a big bus, they started out yesterday afternoon for the Miller home at East Dubuque where they had been invited to spend the evening. Budd Beil went along as driver and the distance between Galena and their destination was covered in the time between 5:00 and 10:30 p. m.

On the way home, however, the Galenians got lost in the deep deep drifts and "kiss-me-quicks" of Dunleith township and it was after nine o'clock this morning before they reached their respective homes. Among those who were present, as the society functions say, were:

Grace and May Trevarthen, Hattie, Hazel and Zue Manuell, Mariam Newhall, Alice and Della Atkinson, Ethel Reed and Mariam Ginn, Mrs. Richard Manuell.

Galena Daily Gazette – March 18, 1910 – train accident

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED

Accident Occurs to Illinois Central Chicago--Fort Dodge Express in Galena To-Day.

NO ONE KILLED OR INJURED

Escape of All is Considered Remarkable Considering Extent of the Smashup.

The Chicago-Ft. Dodge Express on the Illinois Central road was wrecked at one o'clock this afternoon a short distance west of the Meeker street viaduct. Two cars, the baggage and express cars, were overturned, the tender of the second engine was reduced to a mass of twisted iron, and the track torn up for a distance of several yards. The wrecker was sent for immediately, and every effort is being made to clear the track as quickly as possible, this being the main line of the Illinois Central.

That none of the passengers or train crew were injured or even killed outright, is little short of miraculous. The real cause of the accident is not known, although it is believed that the front trucks of the mail car jumped the tracks, while the train was rounding the curve, a short distance east of the viaduct. This may have happened by reason of a defective flange, as the train was slowing down on account of coming into the city. Just west of the viaduct, the wheels struck a switch which caused the tender of the second engine, and the mail and baggage cars to be hurled over onto their sides, a distance of eight or ten feet from the main line. The track was badly torn up and of this entire train, only the first engine, and the two rear cars remained on the rails.

Mr. J. B. Howard Sr., who was returning from Chicago where he was in attendance upon a convention of gas manufacturers was a passenger on the train as was Sheriff Meffley, and Thomas Trevarthen, who are congratulating themselves that they escaped without a scratch. The gentlemen were seated in the first coach back of the baggage car, which remained on the rails while the baggage car turned over on one side.

Another extremely fortunate phase of the accident was that the Northwestern passenger which is due to leave the local station at one o'clock was delayed a minute or two. The delay, which was seemingly trivial in itself, without doubt meant escape from injury or even death to the passengers on that train, for had it left the station on schedule time, it would have reached a point directly in the path of the on-coming Central. In fact, the tender and a part of the mail car of the wrecked train were thrown across the track of the Northwestern.

Galena Daily Gazette – March 26, 1910 – wedding anniversary

30TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Trevarthen Principals in Happy Event.

A most enjoyable event occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trevarthen on Dewey avenue on Friday evening which will be long associated with pleasant memories by those present. It happened that on March 25, 1880, occurred the marriage of Thomas Trevarthen and Miss Mary Dower, and the thirtieth anniversary of that momentous event was not allowed by their friends to pass without proper observance.

Accordingly, relatives and friends to the number of about twenty went to their home last evening, and while their coming had not been heralded in advance, the guests were speedily assured that they were none the less welcome. The evening was spent in a most delightful manner. Those who made up the happy gathering were:

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kuchemann, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hinz, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hornung, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bergman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trevarthen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buchan, Miss Susie Roberts, Mrs. Emeline Kuchemann, Charles Kuchemann, Miss Lucile Kuchemann, and Albert Gray.

EMBANKMENT GIVES WAY; THOS. H. SHEEAN DROWNS

Well Known Young Farmer Victim of Sad Accident Near Tuttle's Mill Saturday Evening.

WAS MEMBER OF FISHING PARTY

Falls Into Hole, Swims Out But is Taken With Cramps...Rescue Edget Falls.

Thomas H. Sheean, of Guilford, met death by drowning in the Galena river one mile north of Tuttle's Mill or what is known as Horse Shoe Bend, at 5:20 Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Sheean was a member of a fishing party comprising his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trevarthan, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Schoenhard, Harry Trevarthen and John Duerr.

Sheean was standing on a shelving bank and was reaching into the water with a rake, and whether the ground caved in or his foot slipped is not known but from as near as could be ascertained, the earth gave way and he was plunged into a hole about ten or twelve feet deep. He started to swim from the hole to the shallow shore on the opposite side, and when in the middle of the river he was evidently taken with cramps and started to go down. The screams of the women when the accident occurred brought the male members of the party who were about fifty to one hundred yards up the stream to the scene.

Trevarthan and Schoenhard went into the water to rescue their comrade but owing to heavy shoes, clothing and the temperature of the water they were unable to do so and the victim went down for the third time. It was with difficulty that Trevarthan and Schoenhard were rescued by Duerr. Within five minutes of the time of the accident the body was recovered by the means of a rake and brought to the shore.

Every effort was made to revive him until the arrival of Dr. George M. Tyrrell of Seales Mound a short time later. The doctor then worked over the body for three hours but it was of no avail as the waters had claimed another victim.

Mr. Sheean was about 38 years of age and was married last November 19th, to Miss Lena Duerr of Guilford. Other immediate relatives are Mrs. Joseph Trevarthan and Mrs. John Schoenhard and three uncles of this city, namely, Mr. David, Thomas and John Sheean.

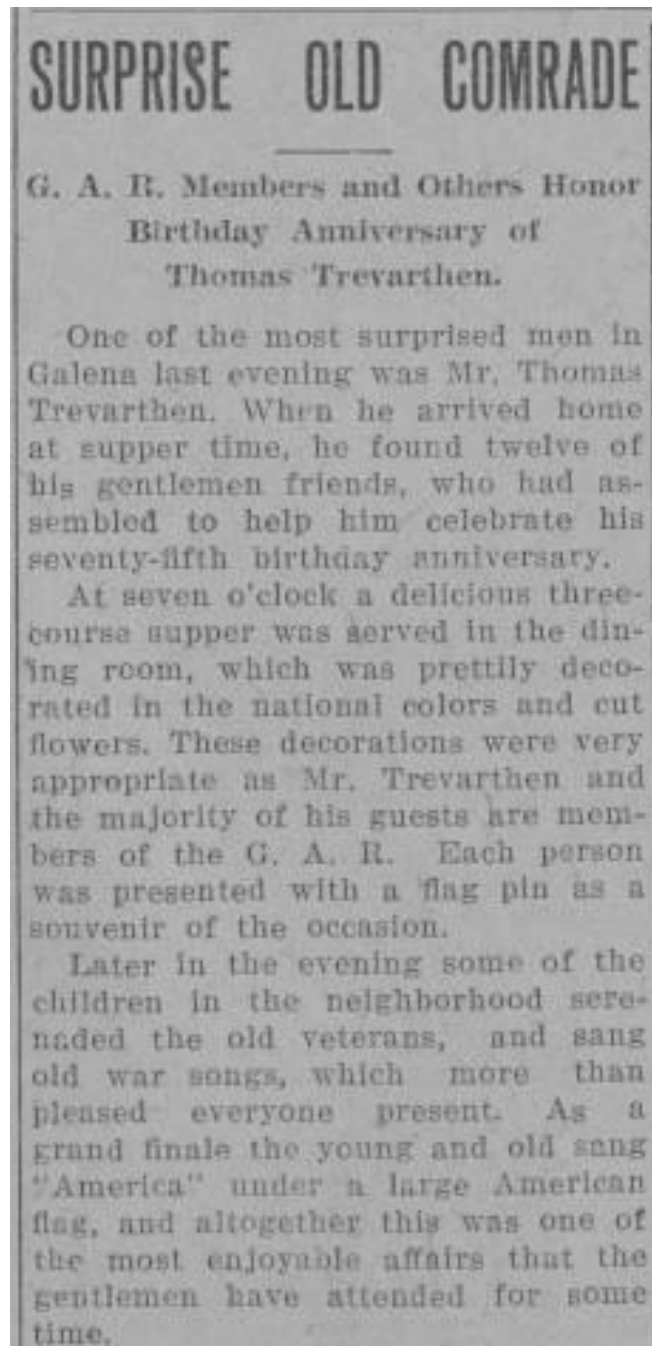

This makes the fourth death in this family within three years. The mother passed away three years ago, a brother, David, two years ago this spring and the father last September.

The funeral services will be held from his late home on the old homestead in Guilford, which he owned, tomorrow, Tuesday, morning at ten o'clock. Interment will be made in the Seales Mound cemetery.

FUNERAL SERVICES ARE HELD

In Memory of the Late Miss Philipa Jane Trevarthen.

The funeral of Philipa Jane Trevarthen was held from the home of her sister, Mrs. Lethlean at Apple River at two o'clock Monday afternoon and the body was brought to Galena this morning and taken to Minor's cemetery. Short committal services were held at the grave and a hymn was sung by a choir composed of former neighbors and friends of the deceased. Rev. Mr. Griswold of Apple River had charge of the services at Apple River and also in Galena. Six nephews of Miss Trevarthen acted as pall bearers, namely, George, Joseph and Henry Lethlean, George, Joseph and Henry Trevarthen.

Galena Daily Gazette – October 23, 1913 - sister Philipa's death

Philipa Jane Trevarthan.

Phillipa Jane Trevarthan was born in Guilford township June 20, 1846. She was a resident of her native township until the death of her mother, January 1910, when she went to Apple River to make her home with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Lethlam. About forty years ago she was converted and joined the Union church on the Council Hill circuit, and continued in its fellowship until her death Oct. 18, 1913. Miss Trevarthen was of a quiet and unassuming nature, a constant reader of the Bible and a lover of religious books. After an illness of six weeks she was called to join that unnumerable company of blood-washed to be forever with the Savior whom she loved. We feel what is our loss is Heaven's gain. She leaves to mourn her departure, one sister, Mrs. Wm. Lethlam, four brothers, Frank and Thomas of Galena, Ill., John of Eldora, Iowa and William H. of Scales Mound, Ill.

FAREWELL PARTY IS HELD

Upper Dewey Avenue Ladies Gather in Honor of Mrs. Ira Hensley.

About twenty ladies of upper Dewey avenue gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Trevarthen Wednesday afternoon to hold a farewell party in honor of Mrs. Ira Hensley, who will soon depart for Hillsboro, Ill., to join her husband and where they will make their future home. The affair was a complete surprise. During the afternoon Mrs. Nettie Luscombe in behalf of the ladies made a fine presentation speech and handed Mrs. Hensley a solid silver spoon. Mrs. Hensley responded expressing her appreciation and many thanks to her neighbors for so kindly remembering her. At 6 o'clock a bounteous repast was served, the table just groaned under the good things that were placed upon it, as the upper Dewey avenue ladies are fine caterers. At a late hour all dispersed for home wishing Mrs. Hensley prosperity in her new home.

WEDDED AT HIGH NOON

Marriage of Miss Frances Einsweiler and Mr. H. S. Trevarthen is Solemnized.

Miss Frances Einsweiler was married today noon, precisely at 12 o'clock, to Harry S. Trevarthen of Council Hill. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Einsweiler. The home had been beautifully decorated for the occasion with white narcissus and ferns. The bride was becomingly gowned in a dress of white crepe de chine and bride and bridegroom stood beneath a canopy of flowers as the bride's pastor, the Rev. G. D. Heuver, read the ceremony. Only the nearest relatives of the parties who married were present.

Miss Kathleen Einsweiler, a sister of the bride and Raymnod Trevarthen, a brother of the groom, were the attendants.

After the service the invited guests enjoyed an excellent dinner.

The bride is held in the very highest esteem by all who know her and the groom is also very well spoken of. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trevarthen, who reside on Dewey avenue.

After a trip to Aurora the bride and groom expect to move on a farm near Council Hill.

Galena Daily Gazette – February 28, 1916 – son Harry's marriage

Galena Daily Gazette – November 1, 1916 – Halloween pranks

Excitement on Dewey Avenue.

Celebrations of Hallowe'en were very numerous on Dewey avenue. In fact it was a wild night while it lasted. Some of the grown-up boys who participated were not satisfied with harmless pranks. They first proceeded up the street where they "com mandeered" an old four wheeled rig owned by L. S. Richards. Tearing off the seat and box they ran the wheels down the street and placed them on top of a barn owned by Thomas Trevarthen. Nearby an attempt was made to pull over a shed. Chair swings and gates were carried away. In the meantime a resident of the street fired two shots from a gun while a crowd of youngsters ran back and forth throwing corn, cabbage stumps, etc. To be chased was the sport of the game and for a while fun ran riot. Suddenly the form of a policeman hove in sight and there was a scramble to escape as the blue coat appeared. The big boys made leaps for their lives and dashed up the hill in the darkness. But the little tricksters were caught with the goods and a crowd of about seventeen of them were lined up around the officer under the arc light. Cold shivers ran down the backs of some of them while several anxious mothers came to the rescue of their "little innocents." While the officer was giving some kindly advice one little girl fearing she would miss something in the excitement chimed in, in her squeaky voice: "Mr. Policeman, I rang two door bells." At this all joined in a laugh and the Hallowe'en celebration came to an end on that street.

Galena Daily Gazette – February 20, 1924 – sister Mary's death

Mrs. Mary Trevarthen Lethlean was born in Cornwall, England, May 20, 1836. She came with her parents to America when she was five years of age, and grew to womanhood near Galena. She was married to William Lethlean, Nov. 6, 1868, and for a few years resided on a farm at Council Hill. Later they moved to Guilford and again back to Council Hill where they lived until 1881, when they purchased a farm in Monticello, Wis., and moved there. In 1910 they came to this village where they have since resided. Seven children were born to them, all of them are living except one son, Frank, who died Jan. 22, 1907. The surviving children are Henry, George and Mrs. Newman Scott of Monticello, Wis., Mrs. George Scott of Primghar, Ia., Thomas of Chicago and Joseph at home. Besides the husband and children there remain eleven grandchildren, three brothers, Thomas of St. Louis, Md., Frank of Galena, George of Scales Mound, Ill., and a host of friends to mourn the loss of this good woman, kind friend and neighbor. Mrs. Lethlean was converted when 15 years of age in the Union Methodist church in Guilford township and united with the M. E. church, remaining a member of the same throughout all the years of her life. Many times she expressed to her friends her great joy and comfort in the services of the Lord. During her last illness, which was of a few days duration, she expressed her readiness and willingness to go to her Saviour, as she felt that her work was finished. She passed peacefully away, Friday morning, Feb. 15, 1924. Funeral took place Sunday afternoon from the M. E. church, Rev. W. S. Feldwisch officiating. The church was filled with relatives and friends. The pastor delivered a sermon to the living, showing the beauties of a Christian life, admonishing all to prepare for the day when they pass to the world beyond. The casket carriers were her sons and grandsons. The flower girls were Misses Jean Beall, Annie White, Sadie Dimmick and Mrs. J. W. Stephenson. The lives have the sympathy of all in the husband and children and other relatives of wife and mother. The family returns thanks for the kind acts shown them during the illness and death of their loved one.

Galena Daily Gazette – October 27, 1925 - visiting family & friends

Thomas Trevarthen and daughter, Mrs. Ira Hensley, will return to their home in East St. Louis to-morrow after a visit of several weeks in Galena and vicinity with friends and relatives. Mr. Trevarthen especially enjoys his visits with old friends and army comrades in this county where he resided for 84 years and was four years old when he arrived here from England. Mr. Trevarthen is remarkably active for a man of his age. He served in the Civil War three years and for eight years aided in developing the silver mines of the west. He surely was one of those sturdy pioneers who done much toward the upbuilding of this great country. It is believed Mr. Trevarthan holds the record for having resided in this vicinity longer than many other persons now living.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our kind friends who so graciously assisted at the time of our bereavement. Also those who donated their cars.

The Trevarthen Family.

Galena Daily Gazette – June 25, 1929 – soldier's memorial

Whereas: It has been the will of the Supreme Commander of all armies to remove from our ranks and from our society and companionship here to that eternal camping ground beyond the dark and dreary river of death, to that peaceful and happy country where wars are unknown, the following Comrades of this Association, who have departed this life during the past year and since our last reunion, to-wit:

Thomas Trevarthen of Co. F, 96th Ill. Inf., Civil War, of Galena.

Isaac Wilcox of Co. A, 140th Ill. Inf., Civil War, of Elizabeth.

Harvey G. Wilson, Co. A, 96th Ill. Inf., Civil War, of Hanover.

Edward Reubeno, Co. 3, 96th Ill. Inf., Civil War, of Galena.

Simeon Spencer, Co. F, 96th Ill. Inf., Civil War, of Galena.

J. A. Adams, Co. B, 45th Ill. Inf., Civil War, of Galena.

John Brunninger, Co. G, 39th Ill. Inf., Civil War, of Pleasant Valley.

Ben Brunninger, Co. G, 39th Ill. Inf., Civil War, of Warren.

Nicholas Perschang, Co. K, 17th Mo. Inf., Civil War, of Hanover.

George E. Anschutz, Co. D, 8th Ill. Cav., Civil War, of Warren.

Joseph Mears, Co. K, 16th Wis. Inf., Civil War, of Warren.

George L. Nash, Ensign in Navy, World War, of Galena.

Herman Weinan, Co. D, 356th U. S. Inf., World War, of Galena.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:

That in the demise of these our departed Comrades, our Association has been bereft of that comradeship that is formed by the meeting and association in camp, and on the march and on the great battlefields of our Grand Republic, a country that has never surrendered or known defeat in any of its wars, and whose flag still proudly floats as the grand emblem of liberty bequeathed to us by our Revolutionary Fathers:

That in life these, our departed comrades were true and tried both in their country's wars and in civil life. That in the demise of these Comrades we are again reminded of the uncertainty of this life, and we pledge ourselves to hold the lives and memory of these, our departed Comrades, in kind and grateful remembrance.

RESOLVED: That this tribute of respect be spread upon the records of this Association.

IN MEMORIAM OF THOMAS TREVARTHEN

With the passing of Thomas Trevarthen, another of our oldest, most widely known, and highly respected citizens was taken from this community.

Mr. Trevarthen was, in many respects, a rather unusual character. He was of that sturdy English stock whose singleness of purpose, pertinacity, and indomitable will have made, and kept, the English people and nation in the dominating position they have so long occupied. Though Mr. Trevarthen's antecedents were English, he was very much an American—so much so that he did not hesitate to take up his musket in the cause of his country when its very life was threatened by secession; and for three long years he faced the enemy's bullets, the privations of camp and march, and the dangers of disease in the cause of his country; and, by his bravery and fortitude and devotion to his country and to duty, he has left his family a most precious heritage, and to his fellow citizens an example well worth emulating.

Mr. Trevarthen was a most kindly and sociable man; and to know him was to be his friend. In his latter years, he liked to review, in retrospect, those stirring times and strenuous days, and to recount the episodes, and sometimes humorous happenings of those days; and he could relish a good story, and appreciate a joke, even when the joke was on himself, and, for these social qualities, he was universally loved. He had the happy faculty of looking on the bright side of life, and, if the "Hoosier Poet" is right, "that the man worth while is the man who can smile when everything goes dead wrong," then "Tommy" (as he was affectionately called) was very much "worth while." This genial nature and happy outlook upon life was not only manifest to his wide circle of friends, but he was the "pal" and companion of his family, and, after the death of his wife, he made his home with his children, and, for a number of years, spent his winters with his daughter, Mrs. Ira Hensley at East St. Louis, and during the summer he visited his daughter, Mrs. Malcolm Taylor at Detroit, Mich., and his other children in the vicinity of Galena, Ill., and it was beautiful to observe the real bond of love and affection that characterized the relation between Mr. Trevarthen and his children—they would endeavor to anticipate and gratify his slightest wish, and he would treat them as equals in age and as "pals."

Mr. Trevarthen almost reached the unusual age of ninety-two years, and was active, and in full possession of his faculties to the last.

In 1880, he was united in marriage with Mary Dower, and this was a most happy union, but his helpmate and life's companion preceded to the Great Beyond in 1916. To this union seven children were born: Willie, who died in 1898; Mrs. Ike Harvey of Hazel Green, Wis.; Mrs. Ira Hensley of East St. Louis, Ill.; Mrs. Malcolm Taylor of Detroit, Mich.; and Joseph, Harry and Raymond of Galena, Ill., who survive to mourn his passing, besides two brothers, Frank of Galena, and George of Scales Mound, Ill., a number of grandchildren, and a host of friends.

A Friend.

OBITUARY

Joseph F. Trevarthen

Joseph F. Trevarthen passed away at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, May 18th, at Shullsburg, Wis., after an illness extending over the past four months.

Mr. Trevarthen was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trevarthen and was born July 2, 1887, at Council Hill, Ill. He received his early education in the district school of Millbrig, Ill., later attended Epworth College, Epworth, Ia.

On Feb. 8, 1911, he was united in marriage with Mary C. Sheean at Freeport, Ill. They resided on the Trevarthen homestead at Council Hill for three years, then bought the Sheean farm in Guilford township where he has resided ever since. Two daughters blessed this happy union, Mary, Mrs. Leo Hellickson of Elmhurst, Ill., and Marjorie, a student at the University of Dubuque, whom, with his wife, survive. He also leaves to mourn his passing, three grandchildren, Roy, Dorothy and Marie Ann, of whom he was exceptionally fond; also two brothers, Harry of Galena, Ill., and Raymond of Hazel Green, Wis.; three sisters, Mrs. Grace Hensley, East St. Louis, Ill.; Mrs. Mae Taylor, Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Jennie Harvey, Hazel Green, Wis., and eight nephews and three nieces. He was preceded in death by his parents and one brother, William.

Mr. Trevarthen was a kind hearted man with a personality that won him many friends. He was a devoted husband and a loving considerate father. His friends were many, loyal and true as was shown when he was so seriously ill, seven blood transfusions were given to prolong his life and many more friends were waiting to give their blood that his life might be spared, but God saw differently and called him home Saturday morning, when, without a struggle he passed peacefully away.

The funeral rites were held Monday afternoon from the Furlong Funeral Chapel at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. P. R. McMahan, pastor of the M. E. church officiating. During the services Mrs. Harvey Carr and Albert Williams sang three favorite selections of Mr. Trevarthen's, "The Old Rugged Cross," "In the Garden," and "Beautiful Lights of Home." They were accompanied by Mrs. Albert Williams.

The casket bearers were Vernon Scott, Alvin Davis, Henry Schumacher, Stanley Davis, John Hesselbacher and Frank Bastian.

The following young men carried the floral offerings, Carl B. Schoenhard, George Trevarthen, Ralph Schoenhard, Alden Knuckey, Burl Lathlean and Burnell Bastian.

Interment was made in the Scales Mound cemetery.

Mrs. I. J. Harvey Dies; Funeral Held Saturday

Mrs. Jennie Harvey, 65, passed away at the family home at Hazel Green, Wis., Wednesday, June 4, at 4 p. m. after an illness of about three years. Mrs. Harvey was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trevarthen and was born at Council Hill on Feb. 28, 1882. She was united in marriage to Isaac J. Harvey at Livingston, Mont., Sept. 29, 1908, at 7 o'clock p. m. at the home of Mr. Harvey's uncle, John Harvey. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. Badcon of the First M. E. church of that city. For three years the young couple made their home on a ranch at Clyde Park, Mont., and then returned to Hazel Green, Wis., where they have since resided.

Four children were born to this union, two sons and two daughters, two of whom died in infancy. Mrs. Harvey is survived by her husband, one son Thomas James, who resides on the home farm north of Hazel Green, one daughter Mrs. Robert (Roberta) Wisko of Rosiclare, Ill., four grandchildren, Robert Wayne Wisko, Thomas James Jr., Mary Jane and Lois Jean Harvey; two sisters, Mrs. Ira L. Hensley of East St. Louis, Ill., and Mrs. Malcolm Taylor of Detroit, Mich.; two brothers, Harry Trevarthen of Galena and Raymond Trevarthen of Hazel Green. She was preceded in death by two children, Helen Grace and John Isaac, her parents and two brothers, William and Joseph Trevarthen.

She was a member of the Methodist church, the women's Society of Christian Service and Hazel Wood Chapter Order of Eastern Star and always took an active part in these organizations as long as her health permitted. The large number of relatives and friends who are bereaved at the passing of Mrs. Harvey feel a distinct and irreparable loss. She loved her home and family and her many friends were always graciously welcomed in her home and made to feel free to partake of her bounteous hospitality. Her philosophy of life was one of kindness, patience, helpfulness and loving devoted service to those she loved. Through her long illness she was patient to the utmost. She was devotedly cared for by her husband and children and other relatives and friends and all that loving hands could do, was done. She has gone from our midst but the sweet influence of her good life shall live on.
